What are Provincial Resource Programs (PRPs)

The BC Ministry of Education funds PRPs that are operated through the administrative oversight of school districts within BC. PRPs support school districts, independent school authorities and First Nations schools to meet the needs of a diverse student population. PRPs are grouped into Provincial Outreach Programs (POPs) and Provincial Inter-ministerial Programs (PIPs)

Legislative Authority for Provincial Resource Programs is stated in the School Act, Section 168 \(2\)\(f\): The Minister may make an order "establishing and causing to be operated Provincial Resource Programs and Provincial Schools in British Columbia and providing in them specialized types of education".

1. PROVINCIAL OUTREACH PROGRAMS (POPS)

POPs provide outreach services to support educators, students and families to meet the needs of students with disabilities and diverse abilities within public, independent & First Nations schools as well as distributed learning & homeschool settings. Staff are subject matter experts who work to ensure the academic, physical, social and emotional needs of students are met. Outreach staff are hired by the school district in which the program resides.

Each POP has a distinctive mandate and operates under its own service delivery model; however the following services are generally provided by all programs:

- build and sustain the capacity of school-based teams to provide effective interventions and ongoing support
- travel throughout the province or through on-line mechanisms to provide support and training
- create and deliver online training and webinars
- provide school-based teams with support, knowledge and professional learning opportunities
- participate in continuing education to remain leaders in the relevant area of specialization
- research, evaluate and share evidence-based practice and resources for diverse learners
- liaise with school-based teams, caregivers, tertiary programs and professional associations for the benefit of diverse learners in and out of their home school environment
- facilitate peer to peer interactions
- host and/or participate in annual district partner meetings

Auditory Outreach, Provincial Resource Centre for Visually Impaired, and SET-BC are Outreach programs that also provide the following services to support students to access their education.

- develop accessible textbooks/resources for students (PRCVI only)
- acquire equipment through vendors that have been researched and vetted as reputable
- maintain equipment for effectiveness
- manage equipment inventory
- loan and provide training of equipment

For specific Information regarding each program refer to Provincial Outreach Programs Section.

2. PROVINCIAL INTER-MINISTERIAL PROGRAMS (PIPS)

PIPs provide an education program for school age children and youth while attending:

- a. an inter-ministerial program established and operated through a provincial ministry or authority such as, hospital, mental health, substance use, or custody programs. Staff working within these centers receive program specific professional learning to ensure the academic, physical, social and emotional needs of students are met. Inter-ministry staff are hired by the school district in which the program resides.

Each PIP has a distinctive mandate and operates under its own service delivery model; however, the following services are generally provided by all programs:

- Support student transitions into and out of the program
 - Communicate with the home school to develop or update a student learning plan
 - Contribute to a multidisciplinary team approach to supporting student needs
 - Provide equipment and resources to allow student access to provincial curriculum
 - Keep student records in accordance with school district policies
- b. a full-time program, that receives inter-ministerial funding or support, in a centralized provincial centre with a specific focus such as BC School for the Deaf.

Staff have qualifications and experience that enable them to ensure the academic, physical, social and emotional needs of students are met. Education staff are hired by the school district in which the program resides:

Each program has a distinctive mandate and operates under its own service delivery model; however, the following services are provided:

- Support student transitions into and out of the program
- Provide equipment and resources to allow student access to provincial curriculum
- Keep student records in accordance with school district policies
- provide in person education specific to the needs of the student population
- ensure staff have qualifications and experience to support student learning
- customize the learning environment to meet the specific needs of the student
